

Robotic Welding Servicing & Consumables

Argon Technology in their drive to provide value and be a trusted partner for their ever expanding customer base, now provide a full range of robotic consumables for robotic welding, fabrication and foundry environments.

As specialist robotic & automation engineers Argon provide the highest quality confidential services in industry. Now with well established partnerships throughout industry Argon are here to provide you with the best value systems and services around.

Argon Technology's engineers support all industrial robotic systems, brands and models, including; ASEA, ABB, Comau, Fanuc, Hitachi, Motoman, Reis, Thermo Electron, Panasonic... In addition to the robots Argon provides a comprehensive range of factory and aftermarket peripherals and consumables for your robotic application, including; welding power sources, torches, necks, cables, sensors, feeders, lines and safety equipment.

Need support: Having trouble finding someone to rely upon?

If you need a solution to your automation and robotic needs then contact Argon today and leave your system and engineering problems in Argon's specialist hands.

Get back to making money, let us handle your problems and focus on what you do best,
Operating Your Business!

Contact Us